City millage set at 41¼

Bay expects more from new millage

By DENA BISNETTE

Bay St. Louis may be able to raise 'a little more money' through millage during the 1984-85 fiscal year.

The Bay St. Louis City Council voted Tuesday night to set the millage at 41 and a quarter mills, with one mill equalling about $28,000.

The value of a mill increased when a county-wide property reassessment recently took effect, he said.

Favre said the new rate of millage is expected to raise more money for the city this year, but added Wednesday that he has not yet ascertained how much.

Any additional money raised through millage will be spread over the entire city budget, he added.

Last year's rate was 51 and a quarter mills, but a mill was worth only about $19,000 at that time, Favre said.

In another budget-related matter, the council set a public hearing on revenue sharing funds for 5:30 p.m. Oct. 1.

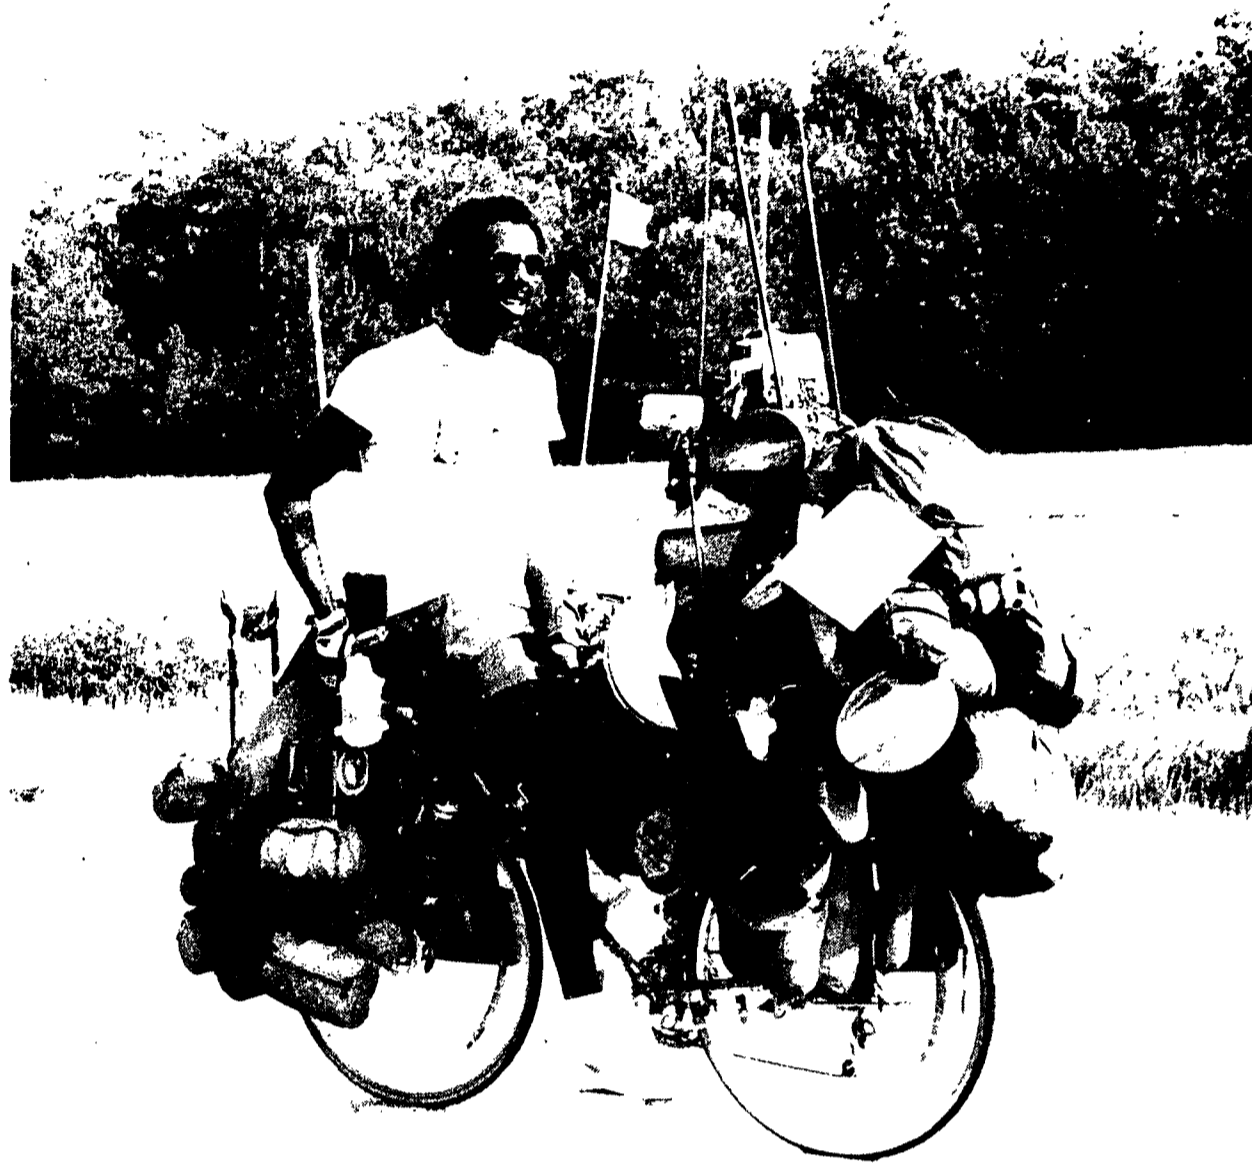

Favre said the city is expected to receive about $136,000 in revenue sharing funds during the coming year and about $25,000 is left from last year's allocation.

Final approval of the 1984-85 budget is expected some time after the hearing, Favre said.

In other business, the council heard a report from Broadway Engineering concerning a pending repair project on Central Avenue from Washington Street to the city limits and authorized Mayor Larry Bennett to have city crews clean a culvert that has allegedly caused a drainage problem on Second Street.

The board also granted a request that its annual donation to the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce be increased to $250 per year; appointed Ina Piazza to the city housing authority; and accepted a letter of resignation from tax collector Estelle Johnson, who is retiring after more than 18 years of employment with the city.

WRONG WAY—Motorists on US-90 Friday spotted this unusual sight in their rear-view mirrors as Wrong Way Wooten of Pennsylvania pedaled his bicycle backward through Wagon Road and Bay St. Louis on his way to Florida. Wooten, who sees where he's going with mirrors, left Atlantic City, N.J. in May, 1981, for a cross-country trip that is raising money for six charities including Muscular Dystrophy Association, Multiple Sclerosis, Heart Fund, March of Dimes, Leukemia Foundation and United Way. "I'm trying to get people along the way to realize that they have a responsibility to other people," he said. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Waveland zoning body OKs variance

By DENA BISNETTE

The Waveland Planning and Zoning Board has voted to recommend approval of a variance for a condominium complex to be built by Panorama, Inc.

Final action on the recommendation was expected at the Waveland Board of Aldermen meeting Wednesday night.

The variance, if granted, will allow Panorama to construct a building set 15 feet back from Coleman Avenue rather than the 25 feet specified in the city's zoning ordinance.

Changing the setback on the building, according to Panorama attorney Aaron Adams, will allow the preservation of several oak trees on the property as well as the construction of wider driveways behind the condominium's four buildings.

At the zoning meeting Monday, Adams explained the need for the variance and exhibited drawings of the project to about 20 people in addition to zoning board members. About half of those present addressed the board in support of the project.

According to Adams and Dix Ashman, chairman of the board of Panorama, the condominium is to be known as Friendship Oaks and will be located between Coleman Avenue and St. Joseph Street. The complex will have 38 units in four buildings, including one which already exists on the property.

Each building will be constructed according to the architectural style of a different country, with the existing building to be redesigned as a Swiss-style house.

Also included will be a covered pool area, tennis courts and other recreational areas. Ashman said the condominiums are being sold as permanent residences, not rented or time-shared, and about 20 have already been bought.

"We're trying to get the type of people who already have their own homes but can't maintain them anymore.

Mostly we're aiming for those who are retirement age," Ashman said.

Ashman commented that he feels construction of the condominium on Coleman Avenue will help persuade businesses to remain in the Coleman Avenue locations.

"We're gradually losing them because they're moving to the highway. Coleman Avenue is the original part of Waveland's downtown and we want to keep it," he said.

"We feel that businesses like the bank here would stay downtown to serve the condo," he explained.

Several of the people expressing support for the project also said they believe the development will help the downtown area.

No zoning change had to be requested for the project, since the site for the condominium is already zoned R-3.

R-3 zoning allows construction of multi-family dwellings, including apartments and condominiums.

Bond issue request likely on $4.5 million proposal

By DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis Municipal School Board plans to hold a special meeting at 7 p.m. Monday to gather public input on a possible building project and bond issue.

The proposed building project was presented to the board by Superintendent J.D. McCullough at this week's meeting and includes about $4.5 million in improvements.

McCullough said the recommendations for the improvements were collected at various times over the past several years.

However, the board has not voted on the project yet and may decide not to include all of the recommendations.

Included are several projects needed for the implementation of the Education Reform Act kindergarten requirement during the 1986-87 school term.

The largest single project proposed is a new elementary school for the western side of the district. A site has not been selected but the building will probably be located on or near US-90 or on Longfellow Drive.

The proposed school would house two kindergartens, 12 elementary school classrooms and support facilities for a student population of about 600 and is expected to cost about $1.9 million.

Furnishing the school would cost an additional $105,787, McCullough said.

"We're only asking the county for what we need," McCullough commented.

Also proposed are $654,000 worth of renovations to North Bay Elementary School, most of which involve the installation of air conditioning and the replacement of windows and flooring.

The building was not originally designed for air conditioning and school board architect Fred Wagner has recommended the replacement of the windows to make the proposed air conditioning system more energy efficient.

Renovations proposed for Bay Junior High are similar but include a heating system and new lighting. The cost of the project is estimated to be $1.2 million.

A new music building to house the band and choral departments at Bay High is also proposed and construction is expected to cost $350,000.

Other proposals include a new track at Tiger Stadium for $100,000; replacement of 20-year-old air conditioning and dishwashing units at Bay High for $93,000; and expansion of the Waveland Elementary School parking lot for $9,400.

The school board will probably not ask that the bond issue be placed on the November ballot, the superintendent said. A request for a special election is more likely.

DESCRIBING A CONDO—Aaron Adams, attorney, and Dix Ashman, chairman of the board of Panorama Inc., describe a proposed condominium to be located between Coleman Avenue and St. Joseph Street. The two presented the condominium plans to the Waveland Planning and Zoning Board Monday, when they applied for a 10-foot variance on the Coleman Avenue side of the complex. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Injured motorcyclists remain hospitalized

By DENA BISNETTE

Two Diamondhead residents were injured at about 4 p.m. Sunday in a motorcycle accident on the Diamondhead Country Club golf course.

According to Ed Friloux of the Diamondhead Fire Department Rescue Unit, Ralph D. Stammen, 50, of 409 High Point Drive and his son Michael Stammen, same address, were riding double on a motorcycle when the vehicle hit a ditch.

Mobile Medic transported both to Hancock General Hospital, where Michael Stammen is in good condition, according to Director of Community Relations Mary Perkins.

Ralph Stammen was transferred to Gulf Coast Community Hospital, Ms. Perkins said.

A report on his condition was not immediately available Friday.

Diamondhead Security and the Hancock County Sheriff's Department reported to the accident scene in addition to Diamondhead Rescue Unit and Mobile Medic.

HOW TO CONTROL YOUR WEIGHT

by Ironman Triathlon star
Millie Brown

Even athletes have to watch what they eat to keep their weight down. Here's the unstructured food plan that works for me. If your doctor says OK, maybe you'll find it helps you control your weight too:

• Eat a diet that's 50 to 65 percent complex carbohydrates (fruits, vegetables, seeds, nuts, whole grains).

• 15 to 20 percent protein (only 1/3 of these saturated solid or animal fat). The carbohydrates and fats act as fuel, while the protein replaces and builds body tissue.

• Have six small meals or snacks throughout the day rather than three big meals. I find this keeps my body fueled with food for energy without overworking my digestive system, which makes me feel tired and sluggish.

• Cut down on salt, substituting herbs and spices for flavor.

• Make sure you have a good scale so you can know with certainty how you're doing. I take my digital scale along whenever I travel for longer periods because it's so important to have a weight measurement I can trust.

• Drink six to eight glasses of water a day. Often we feel hungry when we are really just thirsty.

• Take vitamin and mineral supplements in case each day's diet isn't perfectly balanced.

• Stay away from fad diets.

• I reward myself for eating sensibly and training hard by occasionally having a sweet or dessert—home-made only!

Quotables by Cuevas

Local high school football appears to be getting more exciting each week.

It appears some very good games are scheduled this week with only one at home.

Hancock North Central will play host to a strong Stone County Tomcat team in Hawks stadium on Friday.

The Hawks will be seeking victory number one for the season and with flawless play can take the Tomcats. I order to win though, Hancock will have to have a perfect game on both offense and defense.

Bay High's Tigers will be seeking victory number one for the season against powerhouse Pearl River Central in Carriere. The Tigers will have to get healthy fast to bring home a victory.

The Tigers should win their share of games before the season ends, and it sure would be a boost to start with a victory over Pearl River Central.

The Pirates of Pass Christian step up in competition for the second time in three outings when they visit the St. Martin Yellow Jackets on Friday.

St. Martin is a 4-A team and as always has a good squad even though they lost last week to a very strong Port Sulphur, La. squad.

Pass Christian showed much improvement over their first game of the season last week and could possibly defeat St. Martin. They will have to eliminate some turnovers to gain victory number two for the season.

Unbeaten St. Stanislaus, and the reason we saved them for last is because they play on Saturday night, will journey to Biloxi to play Mercy Cross.

Mercy Cross could have some surprises for Stanislaus and they should not take them too lightly in order to maintain a perfect record.

We hope everyone will follow their favorite high school team this weekend and enjoy themselves.

While on the subject of sports, we were in a conversation with Paul Montjoy on Wednesday about the Bay Area Soccer League.

One of the problems the leagues faces this year is a lack of coaches for several teams.

The hundreds of boys and girls engaged in the fastest growing sport in our area has caused a shortage of coaches Montjoy said in many of the age groups.

Soccer coaching is not very hard, Montjoy stated, and can be learned in a hurry with the aid of experienced coaches in the leagues.

If you are interested and want further information, just give Montjoy a call at 467-3376.

A group of concerned citizens is attempting to restore the Old Pearlington Cemetery, according to Pat Wilson.

A clean-up day has been set for Saturday, Sept. 22 starting at 8 a.m.

As many of you know the Pearlington Cemetery has been around a very long time and even General Nixon of the War of 1812 is buried there.

We know there are many of the people buried in the Pearlington Cemetery with relatives living all over Hancock County and hope many will offer a hand.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Fish Fry is fast approaching and the time is now to make reservations.

Clarice Gustin told us on Wednesday she had several reservations but needed to get everyone signed up in order to get enough supplies.

The two Johns, Big John and Mayor John will be the chief cooks with some assistance from others for the big dinner.

Another feature will be an auction of several nice items, according to Sherlyn Breland, chamber treasurer.

The event will be held at Buccaneer State Park Pavilion No. 3 on Sat. Sept. 29, starting at 6:30 p.m.

ADDRESSES ROTARY CLUB—Kathleen Koch, winner of a Rotary Club Graduate Scholarship Award, tells of some of her experiences during a year of study in Dijon, France to Bay St. Louis Rotary members last week. Miss Koch, a resident of Bay

WEBB STREET DUMP—Bay St. Louis police officers W.P. Brown and Judith Childs investigate a complaint that an old dumping area off Webb Street is being used again. The police visited the site Monday and found that several loads of insulation, sheetrock, broken concrete blocks and other items had been illegally dumped there in the past week. Brown said the police would ask the city to block off the entrance to the dump to try to prevent it from being used again. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

News From The Governor's Office

Gov. Bill Allain

During the 1984 Legislative session, the state Fiscal Management Board was created. The three-member Board, which I chair, has been in operation since July 1, dealing with all the money matters that affect the operation of state government.

The Fiscal Management Board has now begun its most important deliberations of the year—consideration of the state budget. In the coming weeks, Board members will review budget requests from every state agency and hear recommendations on the best ways to spend your tax dollars in the coming year.

Last week the Fiscal Management Board, in its regular monthly meeting, received an encouraging report. We learned that state revenues are up slightly due to tax collections during the first months of the fiscal year which began July 1. Of course, the state has had some financial problems this year, so we are still looking for getting the most out of our dollars. And any increase in revenues is quite welcome.

In an effort to tighten spending for the state, the Board voted to closely review out-of-state travel requests from state agencies. We want to be sure that those expenditures will help us get a return on the investment. This crackdown on spending will probably continue for some time, because, while many states have come out of the recession, Mississippi is still lagging behind.

The budget-making process involves receiving recommendations from each state agency or board, then reviewing those recommendations, and determining what part of the state budget should be spent in that area. Traditionally, Mississippi's highest expenditure area is education, and this process should continue. All of us on the Fiscal Management Board realize that spending money to educate our citizens is an investment, not an expenditure. Health care and programs for the elderly will also probably receive a great deal of consideration. We saw in the special legislative session earlier this year that we cannot ignore mental health services needs no matter what our financial needs.

However, I will promise the people of Mississippi that all of us on the Fiscal Management Board will keep our state budget balanced. But we realize that we have lost more than $1 billion in federal funds in the past three years and Mississippi has no way to recapture that money. Only through a tight policy on state spending can we make sure that the budget stays balanced, without halting necessary services for our citizens.

One of the answers to this problem rests with the tax studies that will be completed before the 1985 session of the Legislature. These studies will, hopefully, find ways to close tax loopholes that presently exist and to collect taxes that are not now being collected. Some of these taxes are already on the books; we just need to enforce the laws.

In addition, the Governor's Office will begin a program review to determine how we should prioritize the distribution of our state money to the various state agencies. Obviously, some programs—like education and health care—must take a higher priority than some other programs. We are hopeful that this study will result in a better grip on state spending for all of us who are trying to serve the people of Mississippi without overtaxing them.

As the legislative session approaches, I will continue to update you on our budget situation. For now, we are hopeful that we can cut through some of the red tape and determine the real needs of the people of Mississippi.

Dear Sir,
A group of concerned citizens is attempting to restore the old Pearlington Cemetery.

As you may know, General Nixon, War of 1812, is buried there.

There are many very old graves in dire need of attention.

We are having a clean up day on Saturday, Sept. 22 starting at 8 a.m. Help of any kind will be deeply appreciated.

Thank you,

IN CONGRESS

By Cong. Trent Lott

A report by the Federal Bureau of Investigation shows that serious crime declined in 1983 for the third year in a row.

According to "U.S. News and World Report" magazine, this report raises hopes that decreasing lawlessness is now a firmly established trend in American life.

And, I would add that it makes it all that more important for the House to act on a significant anti-crime measure which overwhelmingly passed the Senate in February and has been languishing in the House Judiciary Committee.

Experts credit a law-and-order crackdown for the findings in the FBI report that the rate of serious crime plummeted nearly eight percent.

This is the biggest drop since the FBI began keeping comparable figures in 1960. Violent crime went down six percent while crime involving property dropped eight percent.

A continued law-and-order crackdown is exactly what the omnibus anti-crime bill, pending in the House, offers. It has been termed "the most significant anti-crime measure in more than a decade." Yet, the chairman of the House Judiciary Committee contends that some of its provisions are "too controversial."

Some of the so-called "controversial" provisions are:

(1) BAIL REFORM—A judge would be allowed to consider the danger a defendant poses to the community in setting conditions of pre-trial release. The bill would also provide for revocation of release and increased penalties for crimes committed while on release.

(2) SENTENCING REFORM—The bill would introduce certainty and "truth in sentencing" by providing determinate sentences, with no possibility of parole, in place of today's indeterminate sentences.

(3) INSANITY DEFENSE REFORM—It would seek to prevent the inappropriate use of the defense by restricting its availability to persons who, because of severe mental disease or defect, are unable to appreciate the nature or the wrongfulness of their acts.

(4) DRUG PENALTIES—The bill would provide more realistic fine levels that can serve as appropriate punishments for, and deterrents to, these tremendously lucrative crimes.

No single reform will provide the solution to the crime problem, but the omnibus anti-crime is, in the best judgment of the Justice Department and the overwhelming majority (95) of the Senate, the critical measure needed to protect our citizens, balanced by careful consideration for individual civil liberties and constitutional rights.

The principal topics addressed by these bills have been studied by both Houses of Congress for several years. There is no justification for further delay.

Cards for Aliens May be Marked

Social Security numbers for work purposes can only be issued to U.S. citizens, permanent resident immigrants, and temporary aliens who have been granted permission to work by the Immigration and Naturalization Service, a Social Security representative said recently.

Even so, the spokesperson said, legal aliens who do not have permission to work may need a Social Security number for purposes other than work, such as banking, school, or driver's license.

In such cases, a Social Security number will be issued, but the card will be marked to show that it is not valid for employment. A prospective employer would know at once that the holder of such a card is not legally permitted to work.

Social Security numbers cannot be issued to illegal aliens for any purpose.

A person applying for a Social Security number must present evidence of age, identity, citizenship or alien status. In addition, a person 18 or older must apply in person.

An applicant for a Social Security number who provides false documents or false information of age, identity, citizenship or alien status may be subject to a fine of $5,000 or 5 years in jail or both.

More information about Social Security numbers can be obtained at any Social Security office. The address and telephone number of the nearest Social Security office can be found in the telephone directory.

Social security benefits to disabled workers who return to work in spite of their disability may continue for up to 12 months. For information about the trial work period, call a social security office.

School bus damaged and student injured in dirt throwing incident

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Two persons have been arrested and charged with malicious mischief in connection with dirt being thrown at Hancock County School buses on Friday according to Delbert Seay, Hancock County sheriff's investigator.

Seay said, "At 3:55 p.m. on Friday the sheriff's office received a telephone call that someone was throwing clumps of dirt at school buses as they crossed the Bayou LaCroix bridge on Highway 603."

"On Tuesday, Michael Dwayne

O'Neal, 20, 116 Chartres St., and Michael O'Dell Zweifel, 18, Rt. 7, Box 217F, (Shoreline Park), Bay St. Louis were arrested and charged with malicious mischief in connection with dirt throwing at school buses," Seay added.

One of the turn signals on a bus driven by Mrs. Christine Luxich, who reported the incident, was broken, and a student on her bus also injured, Seay said, adding another bus was also reported as being struck by clumps of mud as it passed the same area.

"An investigation in the matter was begun immediately," Peterson said.

Officers involved in the case include Peterson, Seay, Alvin Ladner, Hancock County sheriff's investigator; David Murtagh and Glen Strong, Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

Both O'Neal and Zweifel were released on $500 bonds each and a preliminary hearing is scheduled for the two in Hancock County Justice Court.

SSI Payments Are Available

There are probably many people living in the local area who may be eligible for supplemental security income (SSI) payments who do not think so because they believe the small income they have makes them ineligible, a Social Security representative said recently.

People can be eligible for SSI even though they get a small Social Security check or some other small pension or annuity, the spokesperson said.

SSI payments can be made to people 65 or older or blind or disabled who do not have much income and do not own much personal or other property.

The maximum SSI payment for an eligible person is $314 and $472 for an eligible couple. The amount actually payable may be less if the person has other income. This is because after the first $20 of unearned income a month, the remainder reduces the SSI payment dollar for dollar.

A person can also have some earnings from work and still get some SSI payment. The first $65 of earned income a month does not count at all and only half of the amount above $65 counts.

There is a limit on the amount of property a person can own, but not all property counts. A home a person lives in does not count, neither do personal effects, household goods, or a car in most cases.

People who would like more information about SSI should contact any Social Security office. A free leaflet is available which explains the eligibility requirements for SSI in more detail. The address and telephone number of the nearest Social Security office can be found in the telephone directory.

SALTWATER NEMESIS

Barnacle shells adhere to virtually any surface not poisonous or mucus-covered. They even stick to Teflon, says 'National Wildlife' magazine. About the only deterrent ships can use to keep barnacles off their hulls is highly toxic copper or tin-based paints. Even with this protection, most saltwater vessels must be hauled and scraped every year or so.

BUSY ALONG TIME

At one time or another, beavers have probably changed almost every watershed on North America, reports 'National Wildlife' magazine. For example, a 1960 excavation down to bedrock revealed the area now called Boston Common was created by busy beavers.

THAT NAGGING BACK

Backaches are one of the most common complaints of the American people. We find the average patient is quite convinced their backache is due to some strained muscle or internal trouble. Some patients, of course, relate it directly to an injury or fall they may have sustained in the past. There are many different causes of back pain and surgery is not always necessary. In most cases, it can be avoided if the patient is made aware of conservative chiropractic care. A complete Chiropractic examination will pinpoint the exact cause of the back problem, along with the extent of the damage. In the majority of these cases, Chiropractic offers the most effective and safest approach to the problem of backaches. Research points out that as high as 8 out of 10 people can avoid surgery, if they are cared for in time by a doctor of Chiropractic.

USM announces Arts Center series

The 1984-85 Arts Center Series at the University of Southern Mississippi offers six events, one more than last year, with no increase in season ticket prices. A School of Music-Opera Theatre production of "Man of La Mancha" opens the season on Sept. 20. Mike Howard of Tulane University will be conducting this musical about the world's most famous knight-errant, Don Quixote. Students and faculty will be involved in this fully staged opening production, which will also be presented Sept. 18, 19, and 21.

Phyllis Bryn-Juleson, an operatic soprano with an amazing three octave range performs Nov. 8. In 1983-84 she toured with the London Symphony Orchestra and she has performed with virtually every major American symphony. A Washington Post reviewer called her "one of the half-dozen greatest singers of our time."

The Boston Camerata, a Renaissance music ensemble will present a Medieval Christmas Nov. 27. The group is celebrating the 30th anniversary of its founding this year.

The Camerata has expanded from a basic ensemble of instrumentalists to include vocal soloists and a small chamber chorus. The group is recognized as one of the most outstanding performers of early music in the U.S. and Europe. A Springfield, Mass. reviewer commenting on one of the ensemble's Christmas programs in the Boston area said their performance "sets just the right tone for the season."

The second half of the season opens Feb. 7 with the Gary Burton Quartet, a jazz combo.

VA Questions

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are representative questions answered daily by VA counselors. Full information is available at any VA office.

Q—What, if any, is the advantage in waiving some or all of military retired pay in favor of VA compensation for which a retiree may be eligible?

A—The chief financial advantage is that VA compensation is tax-exempt, while retired pay is not, if it is for length of service rather than disability.

Q—As a former prisoner of war, am I entitled to dental treatment at a Veterans Administration medical center?

A—You are entitled to certain VA medical services. If you were a POW for 181 or more, you are eligible for any needed dental care. If you, as a POW, were interned less than 181 days you may be eligible for dental treatment only for conditions which have been rated as service connected.

Q—I am the widow of a veteran and receiving dependency and indemnity compensation payments. If I start school under the VA education program for dependents, will the DIC payment be affected?

A—DIC payments are not affected by any educational benefits a surviving spouse may receive.

Q—Does the issuance of a VA certificate of eligibility guarantee approval of a GI home loan?

A—No. In addition to being declared eligible for a VA guaranty home loan based on his or her period of service, the veteran must apply for a loan from a bank or other lender and meet the qualifications of that lender.

WE BELIEVE . . .

.That the right of the individual to achieve the best that is in him, as long as he respects the rights of others, is the source of our Nation's strength.

.That government activities should be limited to those things which people cannot do at all, or cannot do so well for themselves.

.That those who cannot provide for themselves should be assisted by both government and society, and that every effort should be made to help them become self-supporting, productive citizens with pride in their independence.

.That equal rights, equal justice, and equal opportunity belong to all regardless of race, creed or color.

.That the preservation of our Nation and the security of our citizens depend upon the Constitution, the laws and the courts, and that respect for them is the responsibility of every individual.

.That government is accountable for maintaining sound money and responsible economy. The rights of life and liberty are meaningless if through excessive taxation, inflation and government waste, citizens are deprived of their property.

.That while we maintain a posture of strength, our efforts toward world peace and friendship will continue undiminished.

.That these concepts have been the fount of our national strength and that the Republican Party, which is committed to their preservation, is the true Party of the Future.

Military Retiree Day set at Keesler Saturday

Keesler's annual Military Retiree Appreciation Day is scheduled Saturday between 7:30 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Military retirees from all of the uniformed services and their dependents are invited to take part in the numerous activities during the day.

"Every day, the base appreciates those members who have served our country, and who are part of our military family," said Col. Richard C. Conant, base project officer for the event. "We are always here to serve them, but the Retiree Appreciation Day is set aside to dedicate our services mainly to the retirees and their families," he said.

Some of the services available during the day, at the Sablich Center, will be counseling on Veterans Administration and Social Security benefits, and assistance from the Retirees Activities Office, pass and identification, finance, personal affairs, the legal office, and help in enrolling in the Defense Eligibility Enrollment System.

Also, the U.S. Air Force Medical Center here, including the base dental clinic, will be open for retiree health care. While many of the medical services will be on a walk-in basis, many clinics require advance appointments, and these appointments for Retirees Day should be made by Sept. 20.

Medical center appointments for Retirees Day can be made by calling Central appointments 377-6011 or 377-6015 for those calling long distance, or 374-6800 for those retirees calling from the local area and needing appointments in the following clinics or services: internal medicine, hematology (anemia screening), primary care, gastroenterology, neurology, dermatology and pediatrics.

Appointments to some clinics or services must be made to their specific departments using the 377 prefix from off base: allergy, 6616; general surgery, 6601 or 6516; plastic surgery, 6604 or 6236; urology, 6703 or 6380; neurosurgery, 6604; orthopedics and poliatry, 6443; gynecology, 6444; mental health, 6527; medical genetics, 6393 or 6702; dental clinic, 4510; and the pharmacy, 6360. The pharmacy should be contacted one to three days in advance of Retirees Day.

Also, throughout Retirees Day, the base exchange and commissary will offer many specials, while a lunch will be offered outside the Crowell Theater.

Crowell Theater, located on the base's Larcher Blvd, will serve as an information and reception point throughout the day, beginning at 7:30 a.m. and also offers easy parking, and will be the beginning point for shuttle bus transportation to the medical center and Sablich Center.

Sierra Clubs endorse Winter

The Sierra Club and its Mississippi chapter have each given endorsements to Democratic senatorial candidate William Winter.

"You have demonstrated a commitment to environmental protection and we are confident that as a member of Congress you will continue to support legislation to conserve our nation's resources," said Sierra Club President Michele Perrault in announcing the endorsement.

The Sierra Club, founded in 1892, is one of the nation's largest, oldest and most active conservation groups with chapters in every state.

At the same time the Sierra Club's Mississippi chapter gave its nod to Winter, saying the former governor has shown "a great personal interest in and sensitivity to the environment" throughout his political career.

"It is clear that, juxtaposing Winter's record in public office in Mississippi on to the national issues, we can count on his leadership on issues of environmental importance," said Jay Wiener, spokesman for the Mississippi Sierra Club.

The former Mississippi governor and Democratic nominee expressed his pleasure at receiving the conservation groups' endorsements.

"These endorsements are a most reassuring and welcome expression of support for my continued commitment to the conservation of Mississippi's and the nation's natural resources," Winter said.

Before extending its endorsement the Mississippi chapter sent questionnaires developed by its Committee on Political Education to all the candidates for federal office.

Former Gov. Winter was the only senatorial candidate who completed and returned the questionnaire to the environmental organization, Wiener said.

"CARMEN"—Victoria Vergara and Jacques Trussel perform in Bizet's "Carmen" on "Live from Lincoln Center's" ninth season of "Great Performances" at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 26, on Mississippi ETV. The opera also will be simulcast on seven of Mississippi ETV's Public Radio in Mississippi (PRM) FM stations: Bixby, 90.3; Booneville, 89.5; Bude, 88.9; Greenwood, 90.9; Meridian, 89.1; Mississippi State, 89.9; and Oxford-University, 90.3. CHECK DAMAGE—Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson, right, and Larry Koenenn and Walter Turcotte check broken door glass at the Hancock County Fair and Livestock Association's building on Monday. A piece of angle iron and two pieces of wood apparently used to break the glasses are on the concrete stoop. Koenenn is president and Turcotte, vice-president of the association. Koenenn said estimates on the glass for two doors, another door and two windows were a little under $500 for replacements. The incident apparently happened over the weekend and is being investigated by Alvin Ladner, Hancock County sheriff's investigator. No entry was made in the building located on Longfellow Road Peterson said, only the glasses were broken. The building contains several chairs, tables and stage platforms. ## Lennette Necaise seeks school board position

Former Hancock North Central physical education teacher Lennette Necaise of Rocky Hill is seeking the Beat Five position on the Hancock County School Board.

Necaise, 41, a Hancock County native and graduate of HNC, is currently teaching at Piquette Junior High.

She holds a bachelor of science degree in health and physical education from University of Southern Mississippi.

In addition to her work as a teacher, Necaise has attended Hancock County School Board meetings regularly during the past five years as a concerned parent, teacher and taxpayer.

She is active in school activities, having served as cheerleader sponsor at Hancock and currently as eighth grade girls basketball coach and Safety Club sponsor at Piquette Junior High.

The candidate is a member of Annunciation Catholic Church in Kiln.

She is the former Lennette Moran and is married to M. Lamar Necaise. They have four children: Mrs. Vickie Walsh of Rocky Hill; Mrs. Janet Peterson of Buras, La.; Miss Gidget Necaise, Pearl River Junior College sophomore; and Maurice Necaise Jr., Hancock North Central senior.

"Because my experience as a school teacher and parent has given me an insight into the needs and problems of the school children of Hancock County," Necaise said, "I feel like I'm the best qualified candidate in this race."

"I feel it would be an asset to the school district to have a teacher on the school board," she explained.

"Mississippi has taken a giant step forward with passage of the 1982 Education Reform Act, and even more important will be implementation of the provisions of the Act which must be accomplished during the next few years by the school boards throughout the state," Necaise feels.

"As a teacher I am directly involved in this implementation program already through in-service training and development of procedures to comply through the Accountability and Instructional Management (AIM) program," she added.

"And I feel this experience will be invaluable as a school board member during the next six years," Necaise said.

LENNETTE NECAISE

"As a member of the school board, I will welcome the challenge of improving educational opportunity for the children of Hancock County as well as insuring parents and taxpayers they are receiving the best value for their school tax dollars," Necaise promised.

"I earnestly solicit your support of my candidacy for this position and your vote in the November election," she said.

Judge issues decision on clinic controversy

By DENA BISNETTE

Chancery Judge Jason Floyd Jr. has issued a final ruling in a lawsuit filed by Beacon Light Clinic, an Alabama firm that operates New Woman Medical Center in Bay St. Louis, against five local clergymen and one layman.

The ruling is the result of a hearing held last month in Gulfport, although Floyd had issued an opinion shortly after the hearing.

In the decision, Floyd formally dismisses the case against defendants Nathan L. Barber, pastor of First Baptist Church; Ernest Culley, pastor of Word of Faith Christian Fellowship; Charles Hand, pastor of Church of God; Charles Clark, pastor of First Assembly of God; Fr. Henry McInerney of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church; and layman Bob Hubbard.

The case against Hubbard was also dismissed at the end of the hearing.

The clinic had requested an injunction against the six defendants, alleging that they had organized anti-abortion picketing that is still taking place in front of the clinic building on US-90.

The suit alleged that the picketing intimidated patients and prospective patients and interfered with clinic business.

As previously stated in the opinion, the decision finds that Hand, Clark, McInerney and Hubbard were not sufficiently involved in the picketing to make them subject to the injunction requested.

Floyd also refused to issue an injunction against Barber and Culley, although both had testified that they had picketed and assisted in the scheduling of picketers to some extent.

The court found "that none of the defendants in this cause have engaged in violent, abusive or unlawful activities, nor have they entered into any secondary boycott or in any respect violated any law in connection with the matters set out in the complaint."

Joel Blass, a Gulfport attorney who defended five of the six defendants, said the section quoted above was most important to his clients.

"The ministers were justifiably offended by the language in the complaint," said Blass, referring to the words "abusive" and "violent" in particular.

"This vindicates them in the eyes of the public," he explained.

"I hope this thing will settle down now that it is clear that these people have a right to picket," said Blass, explaining that he regards picketing as being a form of free speech protected by the First Amendment to the US Constitution.

"The big thing I was concerned about and had asked the court to consider was the part of the complaint that contained that language," Blass said. "I felt and the court agreed with me that some finding had to be made about what these defendants had done and what they had not done."

Although the right to picket has been retained, Floyd repeated in his decision that some guidelines should be used in the protest.

The court found "that the plaintiff, Beacon Light Clinic, doing business as New Woman Medical Center, has constitutional rights to do business in this state, and that said rights should be balanced in the best interest of all involved, and this court finds that certain guidelines should be set forth in an effort to determine what this court would consider reasonable picketing in this instance."

The judge recommends limits of no more than four picketers at one time with no more than one sign each. He also states that protesters should remain in motion on the strip of public property between US-90 and the clinic parking lot and should refrain from making loud noises that might interfere with the clinic's business.

Minibike crash victim expires

By DENA BISNETTE

The Mississippi Highway Patrol is still investigating a car-minibike crash that resulted in the death of a Lakeshore man, according to State Trooper Bobby Underwood.

Charles Parker, 19, the driver of the minibike, received multiple injuries in the accident, which occurred at 12:45 a.m. on US-90 about three miles west of Waveland. He died Sunday morning at Gulf Coast Community Hospital.

The driver of the car, Troy E. Bolds of Bay St. Louis, was not injured.

Both vehicles were headed west and the car ran into the back of the minibike, Underwood said.

Underwood also said Parker was apparently operating the minibike without any lights.

After unsuccessfully attempting to flag down help, Bolds transported Parker to Hancock General Hospital in his car. Parker was then transferred from Hancock General to Gulf Coast Community Hospital.

No charges have been filed in connection with the accident at this time, Underwood reported.

Hancock vs Stone County at HNC Stadium

Hawks look for advantages to break into win column

By EDGAR PEREZ

Hancock North Central Hawks will be hungry for a first win of the season when they face the Stone County Tomcats at Hawk Stadium Friday night.

And a driving hunger for victory will be the kind of edge Hancock needs to conquer the bigger, faster Tomcats who trampled Bay High 21-0 in the season opener Sept. 7.

Stone lost last week to the always dangerous George County, 20-12.

Hancock opened in Bay St. Louis against St. Stanislaus and was edged 14-12.

Last week the Hawks suffered a 27-13 defeat in Carriere at the hands of the Pearl River Central Blue Devils, last year's Deep South Conference champs.

An additional advantage the Hawks take into this week's Stone County battle will be the game setting in Hawk Stadium.

The Hawks will get their first taste this year of the support of a home crowd, and that also may help the win-hungry warriors from White Cypress get on the other side of the ledger.

"We're determined to do out best to get into the win column this week," Hawk head coach Irvin Favre said Wednesday.

"Stone is a big, quick and aggressive football team. They have more speed and bigger people than we do—they have everything," Favre noted in assessing Stone as a serious contender for the conference crown.

Friday's game will be an important step for Stone in that conference title quest, with the victory over Bay High to the Tomcats' advantage and the loss to George a non-conference event.

Favre said his squad suffered normal bruises in the PRC game with none sidelined, including Steve McQueen who was the most seriously shaken in Carriere when he was tackled low and sustained a foot injury.

Kickoff at Hawk Stadium is at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Pirates journey to St. Martin Friday

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Pass Christian Pirates, fresh from a victory over Bay High Tigers, will visit St. Martin's Yellow Jackets in high school action Friday.

The Pirates will again be challenging an out of conference 4-A team this season and Alton Wright, head coach of the Pirates realizes it will take a mistake-free game to achieve victory number two for the season.

In the game against Bay High, the Pirates only suffered a few bruises and one player had some heat cramps.

Wright said, "We reviewed the films of the Bay High game and noted the fine blocking by Alan Dedeaux and Anthony Woods which enabled some fine runs by Tony Howell and Winston Ausmer."

"St. Martin has a strong running team like d'Iberville, the 4-A team we met for the season opener, and we will have to try to stop them," Wright added.

"We know St. Martin will be trying to run against us first and then try to stop our passing game, as we average about 20 passes a game," Wright noted.

All of the Pirates should be ready for Friday's action against St. Martin, Wright said.

Wright, in his first season as head mentor for Pass Christian, said that Joey Rogers, quarterback, will have several plays we will try and use as check-offs at the line of scrimmage this week.

The Pirates with most players going both offense and defense are 1-1 for 1984.

Bay Juniors to face PRC

Bay St. Louis Junior High will play against Pearl River Central Thursday in the Tigers' first home game of 1984, according to Coach Gary Blaize.

The coach said he is expecting a tough game, since both teams have a 1-1 record and Pearl River played well last week.

Kickoff time is 7 p.m.

USM Sports Brief

13-GAME SERIES

In a 13-game series with Auburn dating back to the 1946 season, Southern Mississippi has been a winner three times—19-13 in '47, 3-0 in '65 and 24-13 in 1977. Reed Green was Southern's head coach in the first victory, the late Pie Vann claimed the second win, and the third triumph came in the third season of a seven-year stay-at-USM for Bobby Collins, now the coach at Southern Methodist University.

AS VICTORY LAST WEEK—Tony Howell, second from left, runs against a wall of Bay High Tigers last week with Richard Whavers (88) ready to make a tackle. ## Rocks venturing into unknown with Saturday night Biloxi contest

By Tom Ackerman
Echo Correspondent

As the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-Chaws prepare to meet the Mercy Cross Crusaders this Saturday at Biloxi Stadium, a lot of unanswered questions remain.

The most important of those unknown factors is the Mercy Cross team itself. St. Stanislaus has never faced the Crusaders. "We know they're big," Rock head football coach Vernon Powell said recently, sizing up the obstacles his squad would have to overcome in preparing for the matchup.

"Even though the Crusaders are 0 and 2," he continued, "that record doesn't indicate the type of team they are." In their first outing, the Mercy Cross team fell to Vancleave in what Powell called a "tough game," and they lost to North Forrest, a strong team who "capitalized on the Crusaders' mistakes."

Another question is whether or not the Rocks can prepare themselves mentally to play on a Saturday night. Traditionally, Friday is the Rocks' "Football Night," but Mercy Cross has to vie for scheduling at the stadium with other Biloxi-area teams.

"We've changed up our practice schedule a bit," Powell said. Starting their routine on Tuesday, rather than the usual Monday regimen, the Rocks are putting off everything one day. "We've got to try to peak for Saturday instead of Friday," the coach explained.

And there still are more questions that have to be answered. Can the Rock-a-Chaws "psych" themselves up for their first road game of the season? "Even though it's not a long trip," Powell noted, "it's always a concern when you play an away game. It's hard to maintain concentration on the road, and when you're sitting on a bus for any length of time, your muscles are going to get tight."

And finally, can the Rocks overcome their "jitters" about playing at Biloxi Stadium? "It's a bigger stadium than we're used to playing in," Powell said, "so that's got to be a factor we will take into consideration."

But given the variables, those things the Rocks have no control over, can they overcome the problems that have plagued them for the last two games?

"Overall, we've been playing well," Powell said, "but we've had some setbacks. We've been playing well in our victories over Hancock North Central and St. John."

"But we're still making some fundamental mistakes. We've got to correct those group mistakes—if we don't, we're going to have some more serious problems."

Among those persistent problems is the number of penalties being called on the Rock-a-Chaws. "I'm not happy getting called for holding and clipping. We're got to get the concentration where we want it to be."

And there is still the question of injured players. For the last two games several of the Rocks have been playing with bruises and minor sprains. "It's nothing serious," Powell noted, "but we'll have to see whether or not they'll heal by Saturday."

In last Friday's game against St. John, Rock back-up quarterback and defensive back, Jimmy Dempsey, suffered a bruised shoulder—at the time, it was thought to be separated. "I don't know if he'll play," Powell said.

"That's just one more question we'll have to wait until Saturday to answer."

Tigers make changes for Pearl River

The Bay High Tigers will have to vary their strategy this week when they travel to Carriere to face the Pearl River Central Blue Devils.

The Tigers are changing their approach to this week's game due to the skill of several Blue Devil athletes, according to Tiger Head Coach Cleveland Williams.

The Blue Devils, with a 2-0 record for the season, have a well-balanced ball club, according to Williams. They also have a versatile athlete, Gerald Tillman, in the quarterback slot.

"We will have to go into this game differently from any other game situation because of the skill of Tillman and other athletes playing in various positions for Pearl River Central," the coach said.

"Against PRC we need to have both our passing and running attacks working for us without any turnovers. We have shown a lot of improvement with this young Tiger club and I feel that in this game we will gain respect," he said.

The Tigers have had a good passing attack so far this season and were able to establish a good running game last week.

Although the Tigers had several major players injured in pre-season practice and in the season's first game against Stone County, they had no major losses to injury in last week's game against Pass Christian. Williams added

"We are really coming together now and if we have a good team effort without any turnover, we can still have that scoring power," he said.

The probable starting lineup for the Tiger offense Friday includes Jerry Head, center; Kevin James and Patrick Whavers, guards; Greg Necaise and Phillip Hart, tackles; Robert Hargett, tight end; Eddie Nelson, split end; Matt Faircometue, wingback; Richard Whavers, running back; Trace McKaney, fullback; and Jeffery Smith, quarterback.

Defensive starters include Nelson, Faircometue, Smith, McKaney, Geja Carter, Head, James, Necaise, Patrick Whavers, Richard Whavers and Dennis Dear.

Kickoff time is 7:30 p.m.

Special season runs through Sunday

TEAL SEASON OPEN

If you spot some camouflaged figures in the marsh these days, chances are they are teal hunters taking advantage of the special September teal season underway now through Sunday, Sept. 23.

This is a special season when waterfowlers and their itchy trigger fingers get an opportunity to bust a few shells, and hopefully bring a few teal to bag. The daily bag limit for blue-winged and green-winged teal is four and the possession limit is eight.

The shooting hours are from sunrise until sunset. Hunters must have their shotgun charged and be capable of taking more than three shells at any loading.

Hunters 16 years of age and older are required to have a U.S. federal duck stamp before hunting. Those over 16 and under 65 must have a state waterfowl stamp, in addition to a valid hunting license.

All stamps and licenses must be signed and in the shooter's possession while hunting.

As most duck hunters know, teal are wildlife barometers of waterfowl migration. They can be counted upon to be among the first to head South in the fall and last to return in northern breeding grounds in the spring.

Migrating teal change from winter plumage (dull brown and buff) to breeding plumage (bright blue and green) in early September. Teal are waterfowl that breed in the marshes and swamps of the Southeast. They are found in large numbers in the marshes of the Sea Coast area. The teal season is a great time to see these beautiful birds in their natural habitat.

SSC Junior Varsity edges St. John 7-0

Monday night the St. Stanislaus Junior Varsity Football team traveled to Gulfport to take on the Junior Varsity from St. John High School.

After four quarters of hard-hitting football, SSC JV took a 7-0 victory over the Eagles.

SSC took the opening kickoff and ran it back to the 34 yard line. From there the Rocks mounted a solid offensive drive which consumed the entire first quarter and part of the second quarter.

Led by quarterback Steve Porcello who filled in for injured Jimmy Dempsey and running back Matt Caldwell, the Rocks drove down the field deep into St. John territory.

St. John tightened up its defense and held the Rocks for four downs, taking over on their own 32.

St. Stanislaus JV defense did not allow St. John a first down in the second quarter.

Aggressive play by linemen Blake Boudreaux, Jose Lau, Philip Wittman, Larry Logue, and Matt Caldwell consistently stopped St. John's running back for little or no gain. After a scoreless first half, the Rocks and St. John battled back and forth near mid-field. Early in the fourth quarter, SSC mounted its winning drive.

Matt Caldwell, who had over 60 yards rushing, swept to his left and pulled up to throw a deep pass to split end David Williams who caught the ball between two St. John defenders and raced into the end zone. Eric Doyle's PAT was good and the Rocks went on top 7-0 with four minutes left in the game.

St. John returned the kickoff to their 37, and aided by a personal foul against the Rocks moved into SSC territory. St. John went to the air unsuccessfully, with a third down pass being deflected by Rocks cornerback Dirk Callais and tipped into the hands of safety Steve Porcello. From this point, the Rocks ran out the clock to secure their victory.

The next game for the SSC Junior Varsity is next Monday, Sept. 24, against Pearl River. Kickoff is 6 p.m. at Rock-a-Chaw Stadium.

PRC Wildcats cite Lacoste

Not since 1966 has the Pearl River College football Wildcats been winless after three games into the season. That is, not until 1984.

This Saturday night, in the Dobie Holden Stadium on the PRC campus, the Wildcats will get another chance at breaking into the win column.

After Uelg Holmes 14-14, the PRC Cats have lost to Hinds 27-21 and to Jones 34-0. This week the Pearl River eleven will take on north division foe Northwest.

Over the years the Wildcats have had a decided edge over the Rangers from Senatobia. In fact, of the 19 meetings between the two, Pearl River has won 16. The Northwest wins were in 1966 and '67 and a 24-20 squeaker in '76.

Later that year the Wildcats got revenge for the '76 loss by beating the Ranger 17-7 for the overall Mississippi junior college crown.

In 1977, here at home, the Wildcats won a 15-14 decision. It's been seven years since the two have met. It's been a period where both teams have experienced good times and bad.

Back in 1981 the Wildcats won the South Division, but lost the overall crown to Holmes. In 1982, the Ranger won the North Division crown, but had to share the state title with Gulf Coast. Northwest, who had defeated Gulf Coast earlier in the year, eventually was named national champs.

So far, here in '84 the Rangers are 1-1 and are essentially like the Wildcats in the fact that they are trying to find themselves. In the season opener, Jones beat the Rangers 33-7. The Wildcats lost last week 34-0 to the Bobcats.

In other comparisons, the Wildcats and Holmes' Bulldogs fought to a 14-14 tie while the Rangers and Bulldogs ended up 22-22. The Rangers' victory came last week when they knocked off East Mississippi 20-17.

"They're big and strong," said J.C. Arban, the Wildcats' head coach. "The tackles go 260 and 280 and the linebackers are 235 and 222. They are stronger than Jones but they are not as quick."

Offensively Arban is expecting the Rangers to pass. "Their quarterback (Tony Lanham—6'-185) is quick and an excellent passer," Arban said. "They also have people who can catch the ball."

Arban is also worried about 195 pound tailback Anthony Jackson. "He's strong and quick and can score from anywhere on the field. We need this one," Arban said. "We need a win under our belt."

Captains for this week's game include Ricky Myers of Bassfield, Peter Dunn of Pearl River, LA and Richard Poole of North Forrest.

Special player awards went this week to John Henry, Poplarville, special teams; John Doran, Chalmette, LA, offensive back; Peter Dunn, Pearl River, LA, offensive lineman; John Linden, Derby, defensive back and Dennis Lacoste, Hancock North Central, defensive lineman.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. in the Dobie Holden Stadium.

Auburn, Southern Mississippi's opponent for Saturday, will be the second of four Southeastern Conference foes the Golden Eagles will face in 1984. The Birds dropped a 26-19 decision to Georgia last week, and after Auburn will play in-state SEC members Mississippi State (Oct. 6) and Ole Miss (Oct. 20).

SEA COAST CONTEST WINNERS—David Pitalo, right, of Bay St. Louis receives a $15 check from Sea Coast Echo publisher Ellis Cuevas. Pitalo picked ten winners out of 12 games listed in the newspaper's weekly Football Contest. Second place winner is Lydia Favre, also of Bay St. Louis, who picked ten winners but was edged by Pitalo on tie-breaker points. (Echo staff photo by Edgar Perez)

Buying new home is major financial task

By Dr. Frances Graham
Housing Specialist
Extension Service

Buying a house is a major financial undertaking.

People must decide how much can reasonably be spent on housing. Home buyers are often forced to sacrifice other needs in order to make monthly payments and to get the best house available without investing in too much house in terms of space or money.

In order to determine what is affordable, the first thing to do is to figure monthly income.

A married couple with a combined take-home pay of $20,000 per year provides a good example. This includes income from savings accounts or investments.

By dividing the $20,000 by 12, the average combined monthly income is $1,666. To determine how much is spent per month on food and clothing, insurance premiums, transportation costs, payments on the car, furniture and appliances, recreation, membership dues, political or charitable contributions, investment and savings programs and funds set aside for emergencies and miscellaneous expenses.

After an estimate of what will be spent on these items is made, and they are added together, the sum comes to about $1,110.

After subtracting this sum from the monthly income of $1,666, about $556 dollars a month is left for all housing expenses, including mortgage payments, taxes, utilities, insurance, repair and maintenance.

When figuring out what house is affordable buyers must take into account the down payment, closing costs and earnest money. These expenses, which can be sizable, must be paid in full at the time a deal is closed.

The exact amount of the down payment will vary depending on the type of mortgage obtained, the age and cost of the house and the practices of local lending institutions.

Depending on the availability of mortgage money, down payments can range from 10 to 30 percent of the price of the home.

The amount paid for closing costs will depend on local practices. This figure can amount to several thousand because so many people are involved in the final transaction.

Closing costs usually include the following:

- The appraisal fee which is paid to an independent appraiser or an officer from the lending institution;
- Fees for a credit report made by a commercial credit reporting agency;

- The mortgage origination service fee that compensates the lending institution for loan expenses;
- Property survey fees;
- Hazard and mortgage insurance premium;
- Title insurance premiums that protect the buyer in case the title is subsequently found to be defective or someone presents a lien waiver claiming the previous owner owed money on the house;
- The title examination fee paid to the title company or lawyer who checks the record of previous ownership of the house in order to establish the right of the seller to make the sale; and
- Public cost such as taxes, local government agency involvement and attorney fees.

Earnest money is a small payment or deposit made to the seller at the time a decision is made to buy the house. It is an indication to the seller of a serious intention to buy the house and usually amounts to several hundred dollars. The earnest money is paid when the sales contract is signed. The amount paid becomes part of the down payment once the deal is complete.

When a purchase offer is signed, don't forget that unless the buyer can prove that a clause in the purchase offer has not been lived up to or prove there has been some kind of misrepresentation, the purchase offer is binding.

If the buyer decides not to enforce the contract, it is likely that the prospective buyer will at least lose the earnest money.

It is very important to have an attorney examine the purchase offer before it is signed and earnest money paid.

Dangers of second mortgage outlined

Be cautious about second mortgages! "If you take funds out of the equity in your home and can't pay it back, there is definitely a greater chance that you will lose your home," stated a financial planner with Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Jan Kelly, area consumer management specialist, said the family dwelling is a source of collateral for many families. This collateral shows up on the asset side of a net worth statement. To choose to use this source can greatly reduce total assets.

Generally, it is a good idea to have a 2-1 ratio of assets to liabilities. Since the equity in a home is often the single largest asset, there is a possibility of changing the ratio of assets and liabilities drastically.

The three most common reasons for second mortgages are remodeling, consolidation of debts and opening of a business.

The amount of most second mortgages is 70-80 percent of the equity. The value of the house is determined by a reputable appraiser from which the balance owed on the first mortgage is subtracted, leaving the equity.

Families who have been in their home less than five years and purchased the home with either no down payment or a very small down payment have very little equity.

When considering a second mortgage loan, the following considerations should be taken:

1. Can you pay back the second mortgage?
2. Will the payment on the second mortgage increase your total monthly indebtedness to above 40-45 percent of your take-home pay?
3. Can you reduce expenditures and/or increase income and avoid the second mortgage?

Choosing a credit card is important decision

By Jan Kelly
Consumer Management Specialist

Credit cards seem to be indispensable in today's market.

Even for the consumer who prefers to pay cash, a credit card is often required for identification in some purchases such as car rentals or appliances.

There are three basic categories of credit cards.

The single company (retail) cards offered by retail stores or oil companies are free and easy to obtain.

Users are expected to pay the entire amount due each month or the minimum specified by the company. Any unpaid balance is subject to interest charges at a monthly rate of 1.1/2 to 2 percent.

The second type of cards most in use today are bank credit cards which have trade names of VISA or MasterCard. Banks set their own eligibility criteria and fee policies.

These cards cover purchases at most places including airlines, hotels, restaurants and retail stores. Rules for interest charges are explained on information sheets accompanying the card. An account at the bank may or may not be necessary.

The credit limit is based on income and credit history. Limits are raised with good payment records or as a competitive move to keep customers' business.

The third type is the travel or entertainment card such as American Express which charges an annual fee. Eligibility is based on income and credit history. Interest is not charged unless the payment is delayed for a month or more.

Late payment may jeopardize chances for renewal.

Special cards are now available for persons with higher income in the form of gold cards. Gold cards cost more and offer greater services such as a guaranteed line of credit to tap anytime and anywhere.

The cards you decide you need will depend on your lifestyle and income. Generally, those with multiple use and acceptance anywhere are ideal. A realistic evaluation of your spending needs and patterns will help identify the type cards you really need.

If cards are lost or stolen, notify the company immediately so you will not be liable for unauthorized charges.

For your protection, keep a list of the telephone numbers you will need for loss report.

Thanks to you...

Cash awards offered in 'Smoking And Health' annual essay contest

Smoking and Health is the subject of an eighth annual statewide essay contest sponsored by the Mississippi Lung Association.

Mrs. Mary Jane Green of Grenada, MLA president, said announcements outlining rules and regulations have been sent to Mississippi junior and senior high schools.

Any regularly enrolled eighth or tenth grade student is eligible to enter. Essays are to be on the subject "Smoking and Health" and may highlight advantages of not smoking, hazards of smoking, effects of smoke on the non-smoker and rights of the non-smoker.

Essays should not exceed 300 words. Typed copies are preferred, but handwritten essays are acceptable.

Teachers are asked to select two preliminary winners—preferably one boy and one girl—from each participating class and submit to the Mississippi Lung Association by Thursday, November 15, for state judging.

Twelve prizes will be awarded: First, $25; Second, $15; Third, $10 in each category.

Categories include eighth grade girls, eighth grade boys, tenth grade girls and tenth grade boys.

Additionally, all four first place winners will be invited to come to Jackson to participate in the television program "Access" with host Jack Schweitzer at the Mississippi Educational Television Network.

The program will be aired statewide during National Education Week on Smoking and Health.

For further information or resource material, contact the Mississippi Lung Association, P.O. Box 9865, Jackson, Ms. 39206.

School system appoints Project Search director

The Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District has appointed Betty Ashe director of Project Search, an ongoing statewide effort to identify, locate and evaluate children through the age of 21 who are physically, mentally, communicatively and emotionally handicapped.

Ashe is available for parent conferences, presentations to agencies and consultations with other professionals. She is also responsible for obtaining a complete, confidential assessment of each child.

The information will be used to help determine present and future program needs as progress is made toward the goal of providing a free and appropriate education to all handicapped children.

Information that could identify an individual child will be maintained by the school district and will be provided to other agencies only in accordance with the Family Rights and Privacy Act.

Parents are guaranteed the right to inspect any information about their child and to challenge its accuracy. Access to the information is forbidden to any unauthorized person who does not have parental consent.

Information can be obtained by calling Ashe at 467-1021, or by writing Bay St. Louis Municipal School District, Special Education Department, 750 Blue Meadow Rd., Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

Deaf grandson of Bay woman is 4-H winner

By Tina Scarbrough
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

People may have trouble understanding what Billy Stolz says. Animals, however, have no problems.

The 17-year-old Madison County boy, son of Thomas Stolz and Geraldine Bilbo Stolz, and grandson of Verdee Kilinar of Bay St. Louis, has been deaf since birth.

But animals do not seem to notice his handicap. The family's pet doberman obeys every command given by Stolz yet does not seem to understand the same command coming from someone else.

"Even strange dogs understand him. Once a dog he had never seen before came after him. Billy yelled for it to sit and the dog stopped in his tracks and sat," Stolz's mother said.

His family has spent hours listening to Stolz talk to the animals. They have practiced saying the words just like him but nothing seems to have the same effect.

"Billy has trouble with certain letters of the alphabet so we thought it might be the way he says the words. But, when we imitate him, we still get no results," Mrs. Stolz said.

Stolz has made his special relationship with animals pay off in 4-H livestock shows. Last year he exhibited sheep at the State Fair, county show, district show and the Dixie National Livestock Show. He placed sixth in state showmanship this year.

"I always seem to place better when I talk to the sheep during the show. They calm down and handle a lot better," he said.

Stolz also won the county Grand Champion award two consecutive years and he credits large gravel piles for this success.

"I ran the lambs up and down the gravel piles that were just down the road to build up their muscles. Now that the gravel is gone, I tie them to my motorcycle and run them about two miles every day," Stolz said.

His biggest problem was not building up their muscles, but getting the lambs to the 4-H shows to compete. For the State Fair, Stolz and his mother took four lambs at a time in the family Pinto.

"We got some of the strangest looks on the way to Jackson," Mrs. Stolz said.

In 1982, Stolz decided to try something different in addition to the sheep project. He and his mother went to Chicago to visit a relative and found the answer—a Crossbred pig named Herbie.

"We had to stop every two hours on the way back to Mississippi for Herbie to take a break and exercise," Mrs. Stolz said. "I didn't think we would ever get home."

Herbie had no problem adjusting to the other animals or to Stolz.

"That pig loved the lambs. He followed them around all day and slept with them every night," Stolz said. "He even seemed to understand what you were saying to him."

Herbie was shown at the Madison County Fair and the State Fair before Stolz sold him.

Besides showing the animals, Stolz also participates in animal judging contests. This year he entered the State 4-H Dairy Judging Contest, where contestants are required to give oral reasons for their placings. Although he did not win the contest, Stolz gave good enough reasons that the judges had no idea he was deaf.

"I thought once about telling the judges that Billy was deaf but that would have defeated the reason he entered the contest," said Madison County 4-H Youth Agent Mary Jones. "He gained more from the experience because he was treated just like everyone else."

So Stolz was scored just as hard as the other contestants. By reading their lips, Stolz was able to answer the judges' questions.

The contest participants were required to give oral and written reasons for their placings of the cattle. Unlike most 4-H-ers, Stolz would rather give reasons orally than written.

Eventually Stolz would like to use the communication skills he has gained through 4-H activities to attend trade school and become a butcher.

"By training the lambs I already know where the cuts of meat are. Now I am ready to learn how to do it, but on an animal that is not my own," he said.

Nursing School offers cost reduction workshop

A workshop entitled "Survival Strategies for the Prospective Pricing Era" will be offered by the University of Southern Mississippi on Friday, Sept. 21.

Designed to provide educational activities for registered nurses, the workshop is part of USM's School of Nursing Continuing Education Program. The programs are designed to help expand nursing knowledge and increase skill competency in the nursing environment.

This one-day workshop will help participants formulate strategies to reduce costs in the nursing environment. It will be led by Frank Consultant for the South Central and Eastern Regions of National Medical Enterprises, who will present timely and creative strategies for cost effective care.

The workshop will be held Sept. 21 from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Jackson Hall, the School of Nursing Building, on the Hattiesburg campus with registration at 8 a.m.

For additional information or registration, contact Virginia L. Newberry, Director of the Continuing Education Program, at (601) 833-1111.

New USM collection enriches awareness of nursing movement

The University of Southern Mississippi School of Nursing recently established a collection of archival and historical materials to facilitate a richer awareness of the development and evolution of the nursing profession.

In 1976 a large collection of such materials were received by the School of Nursing from the Mississippi State Board of Health for the public's interest and the nursing students' future applications in their chosen field.

According to a nursing book published in 1921 entitled "First-Year Nursing" by Minnie Goodnow, two qualities which superintendents of training schools most often sought in accepting students were 'good breeding' and 'teachableness.'

Nursing education has changed dramatically since then. Nevertheless, the nursing profession has not disregarded its heritage.

Upon learning a collection of historical materials about nursing and the health professions had been established at USM's School of Nursing, Helen Cameron of Hattiesburg donated a collection of materials which were the property of her mother, the late Mrs. Jennie Qujinn Cameron.

Cameron was the first president of the Mississippi Nurses' Association (1911-1915) and founder of the Mississippi Nurses Association movement.

Several individuals have taken an avid interest in the development of the collection, most notably Dean Emerita Elizabeth C. Harkins and Elizabeth Benjamin, professor in the School of Nursing.

The Forrest County Public Health Department has also contributed to the USM collection.

Among some of the more distinctive titles in the USM collection are "Notes on Nursing" by Florence Nightingale, published in 1860; "Outlines of Nursing History" by Minnie Goodnow, published in 1919; and "Anatomy of the Human Body" by Henry Gray, published in 1948.

The collection also includes over 100 manuscripts, including "Mississippi Study of Higher Education," 1945; "Report of Committee on Reappraisal of Mississippi Nursing Needs and Resources," July 1960; and "Mississippi State Association of Graduate Nurses, Seventh Annual Convention," Oct. 30-31, 1917.

A scrapbook containing information from local newspapers is also available. To preserve these clippings and manuscripts, the school has put off reports in microfilm format.

Dorothea Orem's original manuscript with notes for the work "Foundation of Nursing" is housed in the collection. This book is the predecessor of Orem's "Nursing: Concepts of Practice," which is the philosophical basis of the USM School of Nursing.

"A knowledge of the experiences and accomplishments of those who preceded today's nursing professionals is essential to the preservation of the knowledge base of the profession," said Carolyn Reed, with the Instructional Resource Program at USM.

Anyone having an interest in the collection, which now numbers 1,200 volumes, may use these offerings at the USM School of Nursing Learning Center.

Book Review

"Eisenhower: The President," the second of a two-volume biography on Dwight D. Eisenhower by Dr. Stephen E. Ambrose, has been published recently by Simon & Schuster.

Ambrose is University of New Orleans Alumni Distinguished Professor of History.

The 750-page, illustrated volume "is the best book to date on its subject," according to "The New York Times Book Review."

Covering the period from the transition between the Truman and Eisenhower administrations to Eisenhower's death in 1969, the book concentrates on Eisenhower's Presidential years, 1953-1961.

Because it judges Eisenhower's performance as President, the book is "bound to cause controversy," predicts the "Times."

The first volume of the biography, "Eisenhower: Soldier, General of the Army, President-Elect, 1890-1952," was published in 1983 and also received excellent reviews. It concentrates on Eisenhower's role as Supreme Allied Commander during World War II.

A member of the UNO history faculty since 1971, Dr. Ambrose formerly served as the Dwight D. Eisenhower Professor of War and Peace at Kansas State University and as the Ernest J. King Professor of Maritime History at the Naval War College.

He has also served on the faculties of Johns Hopkins University and of Louisiana State University/Baton Rouge. In 1981-82, he was appointed to the Mary Ball Washington Professor of American History, University College, Dublin, Ireland.

The author of over a dozen books, including five on Eisenhower, Dr. Ambrose was associate editor of the first five volumes of "The Papers of Dwight D. Eisenhower: The War Years."

His other books on Eisenhower are "Eisenhower and Berlin, 1945," (1967); "The Supreme Commander: The War Years of General Dwight D. Eisenhower," (1970); and "The Spies: Eisenhower and the Espionage Establishment," (1981).

Dr. Ambrose is a member of the board of directors of the American Military Institute and a member of the American Committee of the Conference on the History of the Second World War.

Growing Child

P.O. Box 620N, Lafayette, Indiana 47902 (317) 423-2624

Getting 'lost' is traumatic for children

child's safety, angry at his disappearance, angry at themselves for letting it happen, impatient at the time lost, and angry at the thought that the child's 'lostness' reflects on their carelessness.

It is this strange mixture of worry, fear, guilt and anger that produces such a mixture of parent response when the child is found.

Here are a few suggestions to avoid such traumatic situations:

—If you are using a shopping cart, put the child in the seat provided.

—Many discount houses and department stores provide strollers for young children. Use them. This is particularly important if you have a lot to do because it keeps a child from becoming overly tired and unhappy.

—Use a child's harness and lead. These are not always easy to find but there are easy alternatives: an old leather belt with a snap ring, or a waist harness made out of cloth and clothesline.

—If a child does get lost, it is important that he know his full name. Make a game of teaching it to him: "What's your name, little boy?" Later, add "What's your Daddy's name?" and "Where do you live?" This last becomes very important if you are a family that moves frequently.

—Finally, should you and your child get lost from each other, remember that it can happen to anyone. Try to 'keep your cool,' and at the moment of reunion let your child know that you are as happy to find him as he is happy to find you.

Growing Child newsletter follows a child's development month-by-month from birth to six years old.

For more information and a free sample newsletter, write to Growing Child, P.O. Box 620N, Lafayette, Ind. 47902. Include child's birthdate when writing.

In a crowd, a young child is always on the ragged edge of being lost.

He is a catastrophe just waiting to happen as he runs ahead, lags behind, stops to look and touch, takes off in another direction to explore something which has attracted his attention.

Parents, who are only human, can also be distracted for the moment it takes for a parent and child to lose contact, reminds Growing Child, a monthly child development newsletter.

When the child is found—usually only moments later when he begins to wail loudly—both parent and child are relieved. The child is comforted, and the parent takes tighter security measures.

But sometimes it doesn't work out so easily. When the dawdling child looks for his parents, they are gone. And with them goes his whole world. He is small, and lost in a forest of moving, unfamiliar and uncaring big people.

Where are Mother and Father? They are always there in the world as he has known it. Now his whole world is shattered. How could they leave him? Don't they love him any more? Are they gone forever?

At this point, sheer panic strikes and most children will cry loudly and push here and there calling "Mommy! Daddy! I want my Mommy!" These children are conspicuous and readily recognized as 'lost.'

But a child may freeze in terror at his sudden loss of security and simply stand there, jostled by the crowd, with tears rolling down his cheeks.

Another child may cower in fear and, to escape the crowd, may crawl under or into any small enclosed space to hide.

These children may take hours to find.

And what of the parents during this time? They are worried, fearful for the

Retardation presents family with problem

Dr. J.W. McCrory
English Professor
William Carey College

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is the result of funding by the Mississippi Committee for the Humanities to the Mississippi Press Association.

In "The Sound and the Fury" William Faulkner identifies familiar responses of parents and relatives to a retarded individual.

Those of us who face a similar situation within our own families find it profitable to study a carefully Faulkner's analysis of the effect of such an individual upon different members of the family.

Benjy's mother thought of Benjy as a curse, Caddy, his sister, thought of him as a lovable, pathetic figure. Quentin, a brother, intellectualized Benjy's problem into a neat category. Another brother, Jason, considered Benjy an unwanted duty.

Jason experienced the shame and embarrassment of having a retarded brother so much that, when a black servant brings Benjy to town, he roughs them both up and strikes Benjy with all his might. Benjy moans pathetically, then settles back in the carriage, petting a wilted flower, finally becoming calm and quiet: "The broken flower drooped over Ben's fist and his eyes were empty and blue and serene..."

A characteristic view of Benjy in the Compson house is that he is essentially an animal. Even Faulkner, when interviewed about the novel after its first publication in 1929, said that Benjy wasn't rational enough "even to be selfish. He was an animal. He recognized tenderness and love through he could not have named them..."

Faulkner wrote how the retarded perceive things. Benjy lives deeply in the senses. As the black cook Dilsey prepares food, Benjy watches her, "slobbering, making a faint eager sound." Benjy had smelled his grandmother's death, and his sister Caddy smelled like trees to him.

Jason, the most practical member of the Compson family, seems inhuman when he addresses the real issue of having to cope with a retarded individual in a household. He has to decide as a responsible relative when it is time to send Benjy to Jackson, when to administer corporal punishment, and how to face the necessity of sterilization.

In a work like "The Sound and the Fury," the obtrusive presence of a Benjy in the life of many families is dramatized.

Benjy is to all the Compsons whatever they want him to be. His mother views his presence as a curse for a sin she has committed and is unaware of, as if to ask, "Why is this happening to me?" At the other extreme is Jason, who deals so practically with Benjy that he comes across as a devil.

Children's enclosures may present danger

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission reports that its staff has issued a complaint against six manufacturers seeking the recall of children's expandable enclosures, sometimes called "baby corrals."

These enclosures serve a purpose similar to a playpen. The complaint alleges that the enclosures present a neck entrapment-strangulation hazard to children between the ages of 10 and 24 months.

The complaint further alleges that three deaths, one incident of severe brain damage and six incidents involving minor injury are associated with the enclosures.

The enclosures are constructed of criss-cross wooden slats riveted together and expand to form continuous circular structures of varying diameters. When the enclosures are opened for use, the slats cross one another in such a manner as to form series of V-shaped openings around the entire circumference of the tops and bottoms of the enclosures, and closed diamond-shaped openings around the entire circumference of the middles of the enclosures.

It is also alleged in the complaint that children between the ages of 10 and 24 months can climb upon the enclosures, slip and catch their necks in the V-shaped openings at the top of the enclosures or attempt to crawl through and become entrapped in the diamond-shaped openings in the middle of the enclosures.

The angles of the V-shaped openings are sufficiently acute to entrap the neck and head, resulting in death by strangulation or in other serious injury, especially when the child's feet are not in contact with the ground.

In addition to recall of the enclosures, the staff seeks an extensive notice campaign to warn the public of the neck entrapment-strangulation hazard presented by the enclosures.

The manufacturers named in the complaint are: Memline Corporation, Surgin, Wisc.; Worldsbest Industries, Inc., Cudahy, Wisc.; Paris Manufacturing Corporation, South Paris, Maine; North States Industries, Inc., Minneapolis, Minn.; Mapes Industries Inc., Great Neck, N.Y.; and CBS Incorporated, New York, N.Y.

Anyone who knows of a death, injury, or other incident in which a child's head or neck became entrapped in a children's expandable enclosure is asked to call the CPSC toll-free Hotline at 800-638-CPSC. A teletypewriter number for the hearing-impaired is 800-638-8270.

ETV Brief

ETV-FM SIMULCAST
Michael Murphy and Gary P. Nunn are the headliners on "Austin City Limits" at 8 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 22 on Mississippi ETV and Public Radio in Mississippi.

"Austin City Limits" will be simulcast on ETV and on seven of ETV's Public Radio in Mississippi —PRM) FM stations around the state, including Biloxi at KZ, 90.3.

A move back to his native Texas from California and close associations with Jerry Jeff Walker and Willie Nelson soon produced a brand of progressive country music that was to earn Michael Murphy the title of "cosmic cowboy."

Your Stars Above

BY EVE EWING

ARIES (3-21/4-19) A career boost is in the stars, but your tendency to demand immediate results could defer it. There are others to be considered if your step to the top is to be smooth.

TAURUS (4-20/5-20) Considering a job change? Your creative talents haven't been given full rein yet. Why not move into a field where you can use your natural flair?

GEMINI (5-21/6-20) You are the dominant one in a romantic affair, and are in danger of deflating your partner for his inability to match your heady pace. Tough decision is ahead — slow down, or bail out?

CANCER (6-21/7-22) Your financial conservatism is admirable, but you are in danger of letting the good things in life pass you by for fear of spending. Strike a better balance before it is too late.

LEO (7-23/8-22) The fact that you are broke never stopped you from spending wildly. If you and CANCER could mix your traits it would be of great benefit to you both.

VIRGO (8-23/9-22) Your neatness and attention to minute detail has aided your career, but it is sometimes taken for prissiness in your personal life. Ease up a bit and relax.

LIBRA (9-23/10-22) Your ability to see both sides of most issues makes you a born diplomat. Use this rare talent to bring peace to a family dispute that has caused enough damage already.

SCORPIO (10-23/11-21) Your idealism is your most endearing trait, but beware you don't veer into fanaticism. Force yourself to look hard at the other person's side before attacking his views.

SAGITTARIUS (11-22/12-21) Your utter lack of malice makes you a valued friend, but on the other hand, your sometimes thoughtless outspokenness leads to misunderstandings.

CAPRICORN (12-22/1-19) Your elusive personality is very appealing to the opposite sex although you lack confidence in your relations. Don't be afraid to open up when friendship is offered.

AQUARIUS (1-20/2-18) Don't carry your tolerance for others' weakness to the point of folly. Some so-called friends are playing on that trait, and it could lead to big trouble.

PISCES (2-19/3-20) Watch that tendency to over-indulgence, whether it be in food, drink or choosing friends. You have too much to offer those who really care for you, and are concerned at your lack of moderation.
